SESSION AT CLUBHOUSE

Appearance of Chairman Signal for Outburst of Applause—Buffer
Luncheon.

The members of the Pennsylvania Republican Club turned out in force last night to do honor to their president, Col. Wesley R. Andrews. He had just returned from the Keystone State Republican convention, where once more he had been unanimously elected chairman of the State committee, which will have charge of the campaign. The club house, corner of Fifteenth and K streets northwest, was tastefully decorated. On the handsome mantel was a basket of American Beauty roses, five feet tall, presented to the colonel by the club, and on the center table, in a rich vase, was a bunch of Bride roses. In the corners of the room were numerous graceful palms of different varieties. T. Lincoln Townsend was chairman of the reception committee. He was assisted by Hon. James T. DuBois and Charles Meler, vice president of the club. It was a few minutes past 9 o'clock when Colonel Andrews arrived at the club. His appearance was the signal for an outburst of applause from the several hundred members present. Mr. Townsend introduced Hon. James T. DuBois, who delivered the speech of welcome. Mr. DuBois said the convention had honored itself in again placing Colonel Andrews at the head of the State committee, and by doing so had honored the Pennsylvania Club. The colonel, he said, was the man to win the fight, and the people of the Keystone State would continue to follow the party of protection and prosperity. In responding to the speech of welcome, Colonel Andrews said that in his thirty years of service on the firing line he could not recall any event that appealed to him more than the welcome thus extended, and that he appreciated to the fullest the sincere congratulations of the members of the club. A buffet luncheon was served late in the evening.

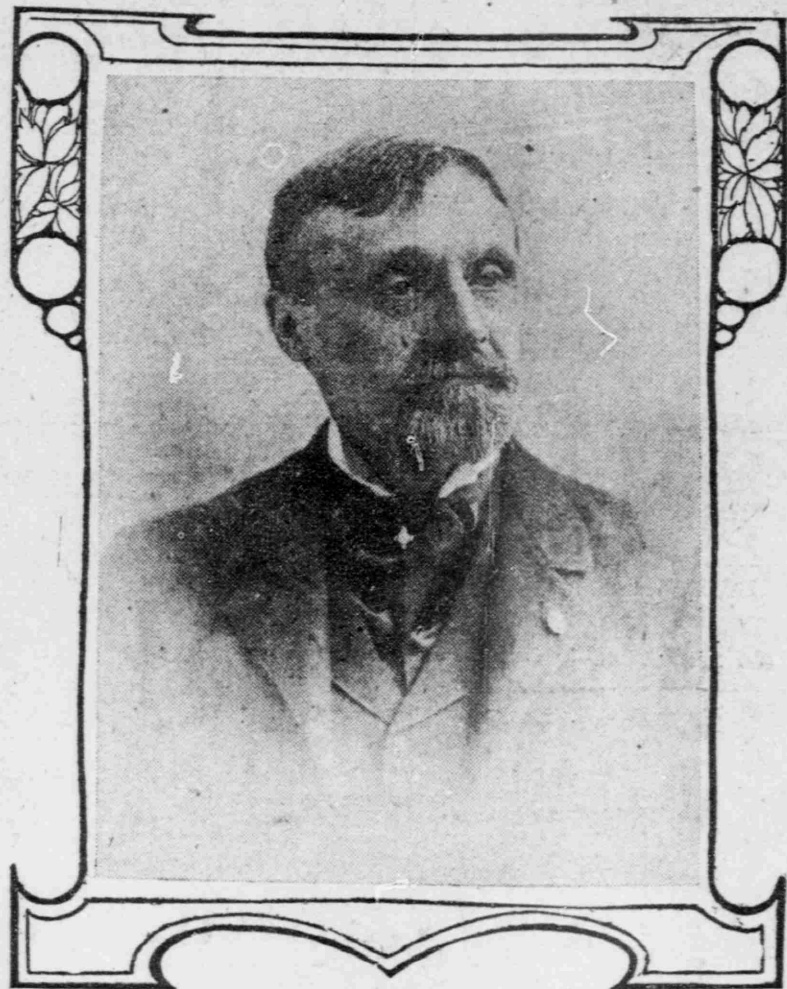

WORTHLESS CHECK AND COMA DROPS

Young Druggist Faces Trouble Because of the Two.

Harold D. Rodgers, a druggist, thirty-one years of age, is held at the First precinct station on the charge of passing worthless checks. The man was taken to the Emergency Hospital for treatment on supposition that he had been given a dose of knockout drops. Rodgers was found in a condition of semi-coma near the First precinct station late yesterday afternoon and was sent to the Emergency Hospital for treatment. He regained consciousness on the way and informed the police that two women had enticed him into a house where they gave him a drink that had a peculiar taste. The next thing he remembered, he said, was finding himself lying on the street. He said he discovered at the hospital that he had been relieved of a large amount of money. He said he had been drugged and robbed and would show the men where he received the rough treatment. They accompanied him to the house he designated, but the women there denied they had ever seen him. The police then escorted Rodgers to the station house to question him further regarding the alleged robbery. He admitted finally he obtained $18 of the money said to have been stolen from him by means of giving a check to Charles H. Bradley, of 602 Pennsylvania avenue, northwest. Detective Mullen remembered that Bradley had reported to the police that a man, whose name he did not know, passed a worthless draft for $18 on him earlier in the day.

Two Frenchmen And a Woman Were To Have Made Attempt Today—Rome Police Searching For the Conspirators.

ROME, June 10.—The police late last night received information from the Paris secret police to the effect that a plot against the life of the Pope has been discovered in the French capital and that three persons, two men and a woman, are now in Rome for the purpose of carrying the plot into effect. According to the information received here the trio are to make their attempt either today at St. Peter's, or a week from today, just as the opportunity shall develop. Immediately upon the receipt of the information the Rome police got busy and are searching the hotels and boarding houses in the city for the Frenchmen and the woman of whom they have a good description. They have also notified the Vatican officials and every precaution is to be taken to prevent any person not authorized getting near to the Pontiff. All persons concerned have been instructed to keep the matter quiet in the hope that the parties to the plot can be taken.

SNYDER FLAME SWEEP; ONE REPORTED DEAD

LAWTON, Okla., June 9.—Advices received from Snyder, this Territory, show that the loss by the fire there today will exceed $100,000, nearly all of the business houses in the town having been destroyed. The serious part of the affair is that nearly all of the losers are men who lost their all in the cyclone which destroyed the town a year ago. One man is reported to have been burned to death in the ruins of the city bank building, but his body has not yet been recovered. The fire is now believed to have been of incendiary origin.

GOLF BALLS PROVED YOUNG WINTERLY'S NEMESIS

Golf balls proved the downfall of Lee Winterly, nineteen years old, of 919 G street northwest, who was arrested last night. He will be turned over to the authorities of Rockville, Md., today. Winterly is said to have confessed that he broke into the Chevy Chase club house, several nights ago, when he stole three boxes of golf balls, valued at $15. Winterly was arrested by the detectives while trying to dispose of the balls at a price far below the actual cost.

Chicago Packers Are Compelled to Raze Dangerous Houses

Notice Served On Three Largest Companies to Comply With the Building Laws.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 9.—Final notices to tear down condemned buildings and comply with the building laws were served today by Chief Deputy Building Commissioner Kelling on Swift & Co., Libby, McNeill & Libby, and Nelson Morris & Co. The packers agreed to have the improvements completed within thirty days. The cost to the big firms will run well into the thousands, and the charges in some instances will revolutionize their present buildings. The investigation of the Armour and Hammond plants will require two more days. The Standard Slaughtering Company will come in for the scrutiny of building inspectors when the other plants are ended. Inspector Kelling declares that one of the most dangerous discoveries in the packing house district has been the fact that iron shutters have been locked for so long that they have become rusty and that a fire panic in any of the plants would have been productive of loss of life. Louis Swift, a member of the "big three," left for the National Capital, where he may watch the fight which is

NATIONAL RIFLES AT ANNUAL BANQUET

Patriotism was reflected in song and story at the twenty-sixth annual banquet of the Association of National Rifles Veterans, last evening at the National Rifles Armory. There was present a distinguished company including many from a distance. An excellent program of speeches and songs made the occasion a notable one.

The banquet was served about a gridiron shaped table, and the hall was beautifully festooned with the national colors. Just behind the chair of the toastmaster were hung the original flags of the old National Rifles of 1861. At the beginning of the festivities the company stood behind their respective seats while the lights were ordered out. While the guests were standing, the drummer beat the long roll, and the bugler sounded "Taps," in memory of James Z. Lelshar and John J. King, prominent members of the association, whose deaths occurred since the last annual gathering. In the absence of Capt. James F. Oyster, Lieut. George W. Evans acted as toastmaster and introduced the speakers. A happy feature of the event was that no one knew who was to be called upon, and the toastmaster interlarded his introductions with witty references, which kept those around the tables in constant laughter. Mirth and merriment joined hands to make the evening one long to be remembered. After the courses were served and rings of smoke were curling upward from a hundred cigars the impromptu toasts were announced in order. Those responding to toasts were: Henry K. Simpson, "Comradeship;" W. D. Baldwin, "The National Rifles of 1861, the Defenders of the National Capital;" F. L. Siddons, "The Citizen Soldier;" Edward P. Harrington, "The Ties of Friendship and Fraternity Inspired by Military Life." Others who responded briefly were Lieutenant Evans, C. B. G. Conger, Joseph A. McMackin, G. Y. At Lee, and Col. James A. Sample. George A. Dalton, of London, Eng., a charter member of the organization, was heartily applauded as he sang "Down Among the Dead Men."

WASHERWOMAN WHIPS INDIANA BANKER

KOKOMO, Ind., June 9.—J. W. Robertson, president of the bank at Sharpsville, ten miles south of Kokomo, was given a terrible horsewhipping at today in front of the postoffice by Mrs. Nellie Jarrett, a Sharpsville widow. Mrs. Jarrett some weeks ago caused Robertson's arrest for improper conduct at her home. Mrs. Jarrett supports herself and two children by washing and bears a good reputation. This morning she was informed that Prosecutor Mount had dismissed her suit against the banker, and securing the horsewhip she went at him like a tiger. The sympathy of the public is for the woman.

TRAIN DERAILED BY UPROOTED ELM

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 9.—One man was killed and two others badly hurt in a wreck on the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh railroad, near Pavilion, N. Y., this morning. Louis Franks, fireman, of Salamanca, was instantly killed, and Engineer Thomas Donaldson, of the same place, was probably fatally hurt. A tramp riding in one of the box cars which made up the train was also badly hurt. The wreck was caused by a big elm tree which had been uprooted by the wind and blown across the tracks.
